HERE AND THERE.

Look out for the Red X Cross on your paper. It denotes that your time is up, and unless renewed at once the paper will stop coming.

John Davis and wife, of this place, are visiting relatives and friends in Lawrence county.

The poor house farm was rented to Geo. Sally at $75 per year, and he keeps the paupers at $49 each.

Charley Howe, the handsome hustler for Trimble Bros. was in town Tuesday, and left for Campton in the afternoon.

"Independent" who writes from Shockey is respectfully reminded that his name must come with his correspondence.

If our Ezel correspondent will examine his inside coat pocket he may find his last week's letter. It never reached this office.

W. J. Wallace, the new street commissioner, has signed all the able bodied street hands to appear today for work on the streets.

Dr. John A. Taulbee will move in a few days into the property recently vacated by his brother, Dr. Breck Taulbee, and make Hazel Green his home. Wonder if John's in "cahoot" with Cravens?

Kelley B. Day, who has been attending the Commercial College at Lexington, is expected home on Saturday. From reports that come to us from Lexington he has been a close student and made prodigious progress.

THE HERALD and the Weekly Cincinnati Enquirer, one year for only $2.00. It strikes us that this is the best combination yet made, and if it hits you the same way, send us $2.00 in cash and you will get both papers for twelve months. tf

Judge Duncan, a lawyer of Louisville, and a Mr. Curry were guests of the Day House on Sunday last. They had been investigating some land titles in Breathitt county for two or three weeks, and were en route to Louisville. They left on the hack Monday.

"Tony" Strother, who has been engaged in building chimneys and setting grates for several of our people for sometime, left for his home at Frenchburg last Wednesday morning, at which place he has a church to plaster. He is a good workman, and could have had more work here had he stayed.

Read the column and a half of compliments to Hazel Green and her citizens, reproduced from last week's Mt. Sterling Gazette. It is very handsome, and the people are more in love with that paper now than ever, which is saying a good deal, considering that it has all along had a good list of subscribers at this postoffice. The Gazette and THE HERALD, one year to any address, only $2. Silver taken at its face value.

If you expect to make Xmas or wedding presents, and desire anything in the jewelry or silverware line, we think we can make it interesting to buy now. We have plain substantial goods, fancy articles and novelties, and will sell for a very small profit, as we can duplicate them before Xmas. Gold watches and diamonds at prices no one can duplicate. Otis W. Snider, the manufacturing jeweler, Lexington, Ky. Write for prices.

J. W. Cravens and wife, of Sharpshurg, Ky., will arrive here the latter part of this or the first of next week, and make Hazel Green their future home. Mr. Cravens will open an undertaking establishment and take orders for tombstones. While there may be some demand for the latter article, we fail to see how the former business can be profitable, inasmuch as Hazel Green is today the healthiest place in Kentucky, and has always maintained a supremacy in that respect.

Wife's Gone and the Devil With Her
Misfortunes never come singly. Our better seventeen-twentieths has gone off with the devil—of this office—Tommy Easterling, the satanic imp who sweeps out and slings type. They left Tuesday morning on the hack. Our "devil" goes to see the Athens of the West, while our better seventeen twentieths is on a visit to her father, Mr. F. Bush, and her brother, Wm. E. Bush and family, of Lexington, Ky. While away she will combine business with pleasure and endeavor to get some advertisements for THE HERALD. An effort that will result in a redundant success if the merchants of Lexington and Mt. Sterling but realize how the cash would flow into their coffers if they had their business mirrored in the columns of THE HERALD. She will only be absent for a week, we hope, and in the meantime we shall eat pie and stewed pumpkin with our patrons, if they possess the politeness to prevail on it—"kinder" board around among the scholars," as the pedagogues are wont to do. Friends of the editor's family will please "norate" it around that no invitation will be accepted for more than one meal a day at any one house. We are forced to adopt this rule that we may be able to fill the pressing invitations that will doubtless pour in when this paper goes out. Otherwise we would be compelled to slight some of them. We might hold out on sugar and crackers, but that would look like we are too proud to eat with our patrons. Besides, the articles of diet mentioned are just out, and unless the seventeen-twentieths above named brings back glad tidings flanked by much advertising, are likely to remain so. Persons anxious to see us about dinings, &c., can find us at our sanctum, unless at the time we are wrestling with a meal on previous invitation, in which case a card, giving time, may be chucked under the door. Business promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed.

We Can Furnish 'Goose Bones.'
The Louisville Times recently contained a long article on weather prognostications by the goose bone. The goose bone has come to be a favorite foreteller of weather, and we are glad to say we can furnish them to those of our friends who are anxious to possess one. It takes time and trouble to prepare a goose bone, but as we are the servant of our friends, we propose to aid them in this matter. Therefore, all who bring us good fat, healthy geese, may rely on getting back the bones with which to work the weather, in due time. The goose must be unencumbered with cost to us, or the bone won't work. We have studied the problem of picking off the meat and polishing goose bones for prognosticators, and those who know us best consider that we are expert. Our former friends especially, should take advantage of this offer.

A Painful Accident.
A. P. Lacy, book-keeper for J. T. & F. Day, of this place, met with a painful and it is feared a serious accident on Saturday evening last. He had just finished shaving, and was drying off the blade of the razor on his shirt sleeve, when, by a mislick he sent the blade into the fleshy part of his arm, cutting an ugly wound. Dr. Kash was called to attend him, and dressed the wound, after which Mr. Lacy went to Lacy creek to spend Sunday. He was delicious on Monday, and Dr. Kash was again called to see him and removed some coagulated blood from the wound. On Tuesday evening the Dr. stated to THE HERALD man that he feared pyemia might set in, which would make the wound a dangerous one.

A Couple of Elegant Solicitors.
Two ladies of Gillmore creek, Mrs. Oscar Fallen and Mrs. Joe Lee Wilson, called at our office on Monday evening to buy a stove we had advertised. They wanted it for their church, and it is unnecessary to say they got it—at their own price—and made us contribute to the purchase. We understand their church is in bad repair. If the two ladies named can be prevailed upon to solicit subscriptions for THE HERALD, we are confident they could get 1,000 new ones in sixty days. We allow agents fifteen per cent. on cash subscriptions, and they could soon have $150 to spend on the church. No one would refuse their solicitations, and if they should bring us in a good list we might donate something besides the per centum.

Any and everything that can be executed with new type, first class presses and fine paper, in the hands of skilled mechanics, may be had at this office at less than city prices. It will pay any man in Eastern Kentucky to get his printing at THE HERALD office. Send for estimates, and state exactly what you want.

CAMPTON.

[Special Correspondence.]
CAMPTON, Nov. 7.—Mrs. J. N. Vaughn returned from Cornwell Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Alfred Combs and son, Jimmie.

Lida, daughter of Dr. J. H. Stamper, has been very low with fever, but is improving. A. F. Byrd has removed to his new dwelling on Marion street.

We were rejoiced to have Miss Emma Faulkner with us again last week.

We are glad to have J. E. Smalley with us again, as he was greatly missed in the prayer meeting and Sunday school.

Prof. Erb, of Hazel Green, preached here Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Alice Hanks, who is attending school at Hazel Green, and Jimmie Day, of that place, were guests of C. M. Hanks Sunday.

A. H. Stamper and wife went to Caney Friday to visit relatives, and returned Sunday.

CAMPTON, Nov. 7.—Campton is noted for her educational facilities. Great care is taken, more especially in the education and training of her domestic animals. It is very remarkable to what extent some of them can be educated. Yet, notwithstanding their training, their nature can not be entirely destroyed. We have one who drives carriages, who goes to Jackson, and of whom the Jackson correspondent has much to say, one who fills some important positions in our town, one who delights much in newspaper correspondence, and one who in an article to THE HERALD last week made a public exhibition of the nature which God implanted in all of his kind.

We would like to say to strangers who are unacquainted with him, that if they should chance to be riding through our town, that our educated domestic would not pull them out of their saddle and ride himself. He would "utterly disdain" to do a thing like that.

He seems to be religiously inclined, and has long since attached himself to a branch of the Church.

He said some things of the Methodist Church, a different branch from that to which he belongs, and tries to make it appear that his Church has been very badly treated by the Methodists. Of course the Methodists will hold his Church responsible for anything that he has said. His nature made him to say that he did not desire to divide the congregation on last Sunday, but greatly to his chagrin and surprise the congregation was divided into two halves and the Methodists had both of them, or at least some one told us so.

This is intended especially for the benefit of our educated domestic, and we hope that neither he nor any one else will take offense at it. REX.

CAMPTON, Nov. 7.—Editor HERALD: We see an article in THE HERALD of last week written by David Hogg, in which he charges the Methodists of this place with excluding the preachers of other denominations from the use of their house, and explains by saying that they (the Methodists) have announced their meetings on the same day heretofore given to the Christian Church. In the first place, we would say that we do not think that an intelligent public would demand an explanation why a man would occupy his personal property every day in the week, yet for the benefit of those who do not know, we will say that Campton has belonged to a circuit of four appointments until this year when it was made a station. Heretofore our preachers could give only one-fourth of their time to this appointment; consequently there were three Sundays left unoccupied by us, which were given to other denominations indiscriminately. Now we have our preacher sent us by the Conference who is expected to preach every Sunday, yet we have no doubt that his hospitality would prompt him to give to the brethren of the Christian Church a day exclusive of any other service were it not from the fact that there are other denominations, namely, the Baptist, both Regular and Missionary, and also the M. E. Church, who preach as regular, or some of them do at least, as the Campbellites, and who have just as good a claim on our hospitality, and to set apart a day for each would take every Sunday in most of the months. Then to give the few fifth Sundays to transient Presbyterians and others would, we suppose, be Brother Hogg's idea of christian liberality. Our preacher has repeatedly and publicly said that any preacher in good standing who would come and worship with our people would be invited to occupy the stand and preach, which invitation is still extended.

We have told the brethren of the Christian Church that they could preach in our church at any hour when not occupied by our preachers, which is only at eleven o'clock A. M. Sunday and Sunday night. This would give them Saturdays, Saturday nights and Sunday evenings. This we think is as much as they could ask, and we are sure as much as they would be willing to grant were the matter reversed.

STILLWATER.

STILLWATER, Nov. 4.—Married, on the 3rd inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Hiram Swango, Joel Gevedon to Miss Matilda Swango, the former of Caney, the latter of this creek. Attendants, Hiram Long and Miss Ella Cecil, James Williams and Miss Lida Chambers. Rev. Haney tied the nuptial knot. We wish the young couple peace and happiness through life.

W. H. Chambers had the misfortune to lose a very fine horse the other day. In attempting to jump a paling fence the horse struck one of the sharp pointed slats, which penetrated the hollow, causing death in twenty minutes. Mr. Chambers had been offered $100 for him.

Wm. Combs, of Jackson, was the guest of his son, L. W. Combs, Sunday.

A. Brown, of Lexington, was in the neighborhood Tuesday on business. Tor.

A Young Wife Said to Her Husband,

"My dear, I dreamed last night that you were an Angel. What is that a sign of?"

"A foul stomach," was his unpoetic answer.

People who have no such pleasant night visions, and awake feeling as though they had had no rest—nerves all unstrung, wondering "What on earth is the matter with me," would better take some simple treatment in TIME. Persons will neglect themselves, and put off treatment until their health is gone.

What would you think of the authorities of a great city with its miles of sewerage to take away the filthy accumulations of streets and alleys allowing the sewerage to "choke up" and spread contagion and poisonous gases from decaying matter to blight that city by disease? Yet your course is just as UNWISE. The human body is well provided with all that is necessary to carrying off the "unclean," and you allow it accumulate and decompose, bringing all manner of ills to the flesh. An old Chinese proverb is, "Keep your feet warm, your head cool and your bowels open." Make a memorandum of this and try it, and if you don't keep well there is no truth in the world.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly 60 years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the most certain remedy. Worm Confection, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country, but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and parents are most frequently the result of these hidden sappers and miners. When they are irritable and feverish, sometimes craving food and eating ravenously, again refusing wholesome diet, tossing restlessly in sleep, moaning and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from earliest infancy, therefore parents—especially mothers who are more constantly with their children, cannot be too observing of the first symptoms of worms, for so purely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant, by the timely use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge. Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and use it in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a safe purgative, not suspecting the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged and immediate relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be his own judge in one sense, and to examine every bottle he buys of it. The simple name of Fahnestock is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing else.
